Local Brevities

Jack C. Kester, the well-known ranchman, was in town Monday.

George Rickle left Monday for California to join his family who have been visiting on the coast for some time.

Mrs. J. F. Walker and daughter, Margaret, returned home Saturday after an extended visit to friends at Hollywood, Cal.

Nelson Puntney, one of the prominent old-time cattlemen of the Pun-tenney country, Yavapai county, was in Flagstaff Monday.

Dr. E. A. Miller, of Williams, has been appointed a member of the state dental board by Governor Campbell, to succeed Dr. O'Connell, of Flagstaff.

Ed Howell, the well known cattlemen of Navajo, was in Flagstaff on Monday visiting old friends. He says range conditions over that way were never better.

Lieut. Elmer Duffield, of Williams, was in Flagstaff Saturday, his first visit here since the war. He is looking fine though still feeling latent effects of the flu.

E. A. Marks, a pioneer resident out in the Indian country and one of the well known traders, was in Flagstaff during the celebration from Oraibi.
He was well pleased with Flagstaff and had nothing too good to say of our prosperous city.

Bobbie Baker, son of State Supreme Court Justice Baker of Phoenix, dropped into Flagstaff the first of the week on business. He was in the army and got half way across when the armistice was signed, and his transport recalled. He is now with Warren Bros. paving contractors.

William Daze, Jr., commonly known in this section of the country and more especially in Winslow as "Bill," was an interested spectator here during the celebration. Bill was postmaster for a while and when the fuss started in Europe he joined the navy to help straighten things up. He has just been getting his "land legs" adjusted to the hilly country again.

Don't let's have to send our boys and girls away from home to a high school.

A little daughter was born to Mrs.
C. F. Keuzenkamp, wife of the Normal instructor in manual training, on Saturday night.

J. L. Gipson, the veteran cow handler, was in from his old stamping grounds in the Grand Canyon country, the first of the week.

Miss Etta McClain, buyer for the Arizona Stores Co., was in Flagstaff over Sunday from Kingman, the guest of Mrs. C. A. Black.

The Eastern Star, on Tuesday night after initiating six new candidates, turned in, all hands, and ate watermelons with the utmost fraternal enthusiasm.

Carl F. Steckel, the Indian trader at Tolchaco, was a Flagstaff visitor Saturday. He was in here making arrangements for a big Indian dance to be held there in the near future.

Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Morton and their daughter Marcia, who had been visiting the doctor's sister, Mrs. Thos. E.
Pollock, for two weeks, returned Saturday afternoon to their home in Los Angeles.

R. A. Morse, of the Citizen's Bank, who had been doing relief work at the Citizens Bank in Williams for three weeks, came home Saturday and left again Sunday for a week with the Citizens Bank at Kingman.

Mrs. C. M. Funston, who has been visiting her daughters, Mrs. Edgar Hash and Mrs. Fred Hernandez for several weeks, left Monday for her home in Turlock, Cal. Mrs. Hernandez and baby accompanied her home.

Charles Bigham, the young man who has wandered around over the hills in this neck o' the woods for many years and is sometimes known as "Moon Face," so-called because of his aversion to Indians, was a plumb interested spectator at the celebration at Prescott.

Harry J. Gray, of Bellemont, former Chicago newspaper man who repent and is now an Arizona ranchman and become a useful citizen, was in Flagstaff Monday. He will take Mrs. Gray and the young Grays to California in a few days for visits in Los Angeles, Venice and Frisco.

Harry Hebben, of Herman's store, is sick.

A. L. Miller, New York Life Insurance man of Phoenix, is here for a few days.

Leslie Clayton, a cattleman of Standing, was in Flagstaff Monday from his range in the Verde country.

P. M. Shafer, formerly a member of the board of supervisors from Williams, was a business visitor here on Monday.

C. O. Bainbridge, a one-time resident of Flagstaff, now of Glendale, where he is running a large stock ranch, was in Flagstaff the first of the week.

George Hoffmeyer, a prominent business man of Williams, was in Flagstaff doing court duty for a short time Monday.

Wm. McClurken, brother of Mrs.
Jos. Jolly, just out of the army, has been transferred from Albuquerque to Flagstaff as representative of the Mutual Life Insurance Co.

W. D. Draine is at home again after a long siege over in France with Uncle Sam's army and is mighty glad to be back on his old job again as manager of the Penney store.

Quincey Randles, ye old-time forester and scale stick expert of Albuquerque, came in from the east on Monday for a short visit to the tall sticks in this part of the country.

"Tony" Walters is loading at Seligman this week from his Walnut Creek range about 250 head of 1, 2, and 3 year old steers, the price paid being $40, $50, and $60 per head. The stock went to California.

George Reed, the fella that made Echo Park famous, was in from the Grand Canyon country the first of the week. He recently quit the intensive hog raising business and is smearing his ranch with grain and hay.

The National Bottlers' Gazette, published in New York City, last month had an article praising one of our Flagstaff institutions, the Skylight City Bottling Works, describing the plant and saying: "It is kept up to the highest standard of sanitation."

Mrs. C. O. Robinson, of Pomona, Cal., widow of the late cashier of the Arizona Central Bank, and formerly preceptress in one of the Normal school dormitories, arrived Tuesday night with her daughter, Marjorie, for several weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Pollock.

The Leader's statement that the Los Angeles man who won the Oldsmobile car last week had bought only one ticket is slightly wrong, as he bought five of Fred J. Lusk and W.
H. Switzer, in the latter's store—one of the five being the lucky number—and at least two others elsewhere.

Jack Greer and Paul Keller left for Los Angeles Tuesday, the latter for pleasure, and the former, who has not been feeling right since his recent operation for appendicitis, to take an inside position in the Garford Motor Co. salesroom. Mr. Keller had been with J. J. Waldhaus as an Oldsmobile salesman.

"Lots of mud," said Joe Wilson, of the Arizona Central Bank, who with Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Johnston, Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Manning, Sr., Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Manning, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Brandon motored to Mormon Lake Sunday and, returning, experienced the full effect of the big rain on the roads.

Robert Kidd, Jr., was discharged as a petty officer in the navy at Mare Island June 27 and arrived in Flagstaff Wednesday morning. Bob was a wireless telegrapher in the signal corps and made a record for himself which put him up about as high as he could go below a commission. Uncle Sam could not put a better hired hand on the wireless, or wires, either.

A letter from Lieut. Harry Embach advises that he has been transferred from Camp Bowie, Tex., to the central department at Chicago temporarily, but expects to be returned to Texas by August and be discharged from the service. Mrs. Embach goes with him to Chicago for a short visit and from there to Wellington, Kans., to remain until their return to Flagstaff.

J. B. Gunter and S. L. Mitchell, of the Flagstaff Garage, went to Mormon Lake Sunday to fix up C. J. Kilmer's car, which, occupied by himself and his daughters and their friends, had broken down on the return trip.
The party had set out to walk the 16 miles home, when a logging engine hove in view, loaded them on and brought them back, mighty happy over their good luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Yeager, Capt. and Mrs. E. M. Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Campbell, in Mr. Yeag-er's car, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J.
Connor, Mrs. John Jewel of Williams, little Miss Ann Yeager and Axel Nelson, in Mr. Connor's car, drove to the Yeager ranch, east of Lake Mary, on Sunday, and spent the day. The big cloudburst left the roads in such bad shape that the return trip was tedious but was made without mishap.

Lieut. Arthur De Riemer, assistant postmaster here in 1912, later a resident of Phoenix, and now a resident of Nogales, where he practiced law until commissioned a first lieutenant, came in Saturday morning to see old friends in Flagstaff and take a few days off down at Oak Creek. Lieut.
De Riemer spent fourteen months in France, where he was assigned to the adjutant general's department. His first stop was at his old home in Washington, and the next Flagstaff and he expects to reach Nogales soon again by easy stages.

W. H. Switzer, W. H., Jr., and E. N.
Switzer motored down to Rimmy Jim's tank Sunday. They found Rim-my out of water, plumb discouraged, and all packed up to move. In a few minutes after their arrival a big cloud showed up at the mountain, busted wide open, and in almost no time a sheet of water rolled down and filled the tank, and then some.
Rimmy unpacked. W. H. says the Indians must have enjoyed the celebration at Flagstaff, as they passed a hundred or more on their way back to the reservation, all in high good humor.

Does the moon-shine bright in old Kentucky still?

L. H. Thomas was up from his ranch on Oak Creek Wednesday.

Mrs. Tom Campbell, of Phoenix, wife of the governor, is visiting Mrs.
Hugh Campbell.

T. E. Pollock, president of the Arizona Central Bank, has been in Kingman most of this week.

R. C. Curtis has sold his Jordan car to Big Jim, who will use it in his own passenger business.

Frank Speak came up last Sunday from his ranch at Sedona and has been visiting old friends here this week.

Mrs. Herman Kahl returned Saturday from Cincinnati, where she has been visiting relatives for a couple of months.

"Duff" Brown, the Ash Fork cattlemen, was in Flagstaff on Tuesday to see what had been left over after the Fourth.

Miss May Morgan, of Phoenix, came up to celebrate the 4th and for a visit at the home of her friend, Mrs. E. H. Wheat.

Miss Lavrene Asselin, of Albuquerque, on her way to San Francisco, stopped for a few days visit with her brother, H. P. Asselin and family.

Mrs. Geo. Nehen, of Albuquerque, arrived Saturday to visit her mother Mrs. Meyers, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo.
Meyers and Miss Elsie Meyers, of Milton.

Miss Lamers, of Long Beach, is now visiting Miss Olive Valentine. The latter will give up her position at the Arizona Central in a few days and return to Los Angeles.

Old Man Jerrie Lee, city clerk and general manager of Williams, was in Flagstaff last Friday night with his feet all set to take home the Oldsmobile; but somehow someone else was first on the list.

Representative Stark, of Williams, was in Flagstaff Tuesday and took his son James home with him from the Milton hospital. James was wearing a badly cut head as a result of his fall into an auto while riding in a race on the Fourth.

Judge E. J. Babbitt, the first probate judge Coconino county ever had, came in from Cincinnati Tuesday evening, accompanied by his son and daughter. It is an exceedingly bad year when Judge Verkamp does not spend the summer in Flagstaff and on Oak Creek.

Sam Day, Jr., of St. Michaels, was in Flagstaff Monday attending the Indian murder trial, having come as an interpreter. Sam is a son of Hon.
S. E. Day, of St. Michaels, the Indian trader, and at one time was a ranger in the Forest Service here—where he met many old-time friends.

Mr. Jones, traveling representative of the Pratt-Gilbert Co., of Phoenix, and his wife, formerly Miss Millie Sproul of Estancia and a one-time schoolmate of Mrs. J. B. Gunter, spent Sunday night in Flagstaff. Mrs. Jones expects to return next week and spend a couple of months with Mrs. Gunter.

Clarence, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.
W. Durham, arrived in New York last week from France and left there on Wednesday for Camp Bliss, where he and a lot of other boys of his regiment will be mustered out. He will be home in a few days. The writer met him enroute and testifies to both his good health and good looks.

For a time it looked as if the auto race on the 4th would be tried over again by the contestants, Mr. Francis, owner of the Studebaker which won, offering to bet $1,500 that he could do it again; but after a lot of good-natured argument, the wager not being covered, the excitement died down on Monday and the race was off.

Marlin Shumway, at one time a member of the famous winning Flagstaff ball team, has returned from Europe, where he has been doing Signal Corps duty, but says he had belonged to eight different organizations before landing in the Signal Corps. He was recently discharged and after a short visit to his folks at Mesa wandered up north on his way to Holbrook.

P. Modesti, of Agua Caliente, was in Flagstaff last week on a short vacation. The famous Agua Caliente hot springs are owned by Mr. Modesti's father and have been growing in popularity for the past few years, though old timers have been going there for many years past for the benefit of rheumatism and other ailments.

Mrs. Thomas E. Campbell was called to Flagstaff the latter part of last week on account of the illness of her son, Brodie Campbell. Brodie has been attending the Normal school and was taken with a severe attack of tonsillitis and has been undergoing treatment at the Milton hospital. He was greatly improved and expects to be back at school shortly.

Joe V. Prochaska, state game warden, accompanied by his young son, arrived in Flagstaff Monday afternoon from Prescott, coming up by auto. He had been attending the frontier celebration at Prescott with Governor Campbell and party and expects to make a tour of this section of the country for the next week, looking after game conditions necessitating his attention.

Mrs. C. L. Scott, formerly of Phoenix, who has been spending part of the past year in Washington, D. C., passed through here a few days ago on her way to the coast, where she will spend the summer, part of the time as the guest of Col. E. P. Guinstead and family of San Diego. She had a through ticket and was unable to stop off at Flagstaff to visit her friend, Mrs. F. E. Brooks, who, however, met her at the train for a few minutes' chat.

Roy Melbone, a young man who has led a various life all the way from a sheep shearer to a chef de logging camp, returned from Camp Lewis, in Washington, last Tuesday after thirteen months service in that one camp.
Roy registered here, but joined up with this man's army up in Washington and went into camp there. The second day out he was detailed as a cook and stayed until he was discharged. They were patching up a new division for France when the war broke up in a row.

A. M. Root, prominent Kansas rancher and cattleman, who lives in Kansas City, Mo., and who is in Williams visiting his son, A. M. Root, Jr., manager of the Arizona Central Bank of that place, was here Monday for a few hours.

Wm. F. Seeman and wife are in Flagstaff from Phoenix spending a few weeks' vacation. They came up by auto via Roosevelt and Rice to the White Mountains and after a short stop there came on to Flagstaff. Mr.
Seeman has had charge of the Arizona Magazine for several months during the illness of Editor Scott.

Father Webber, of St. Michaels, was the guest of Father C. Vabre the first of the week, leaving Monday evening for his home. Father Webber has the distinction of being the author of the first Navajo dictionary ever written, a work which took many years to complete.

Lieutenant Colonel E. Power Conway, representing Warren Bros., the big paving material men of the West, was in Flagstaff the first of the week with Lieut. Bobby Baker, who is also connected with the paving business, to look after the big paving contract now under way for Flagstaff streets.
